We Make The Future:
Fighting for the Schools Our Students Deserve

TKEYAH SMITH & PAULA QUINTANA

WORKSHOP FACILITATORS

The Power of Read Alouds

This workshop will take educators on a journey of fostering a love for reading while promoting equity and inclusivity in every classroom. Educators will explore a series of lesson plans that support the building of foundational reading skills while creating a sense of joy, belonging and engagement through the use of culturally relevant texts.

ABOUT TKEYAH AND PAULA

Tkeyah is an equity minded educator with a passion for instilling critical thinking and joy in reading. She currently supports many schools as an Early Literacy Intervention Coach working in partnership with educators and students to cultivate confidence in literacy. Tkeyah strongly believes that literacy is integral to identity development and advocates for providing avenues for student voice and programs that are differentiated to meet the needs of all learners.

Passionate about literacy, Paula Quintana is a dynamic workshop facilitator in the realm of reading education. With a wealth of experience and innovative teaching methodologies, She empowers educators with practical strategies to cultivate a love for reading in students. Currently she is working as a Early Literacy Intervention Coach. She has extensive knowledge in early reading development. Paula is a responsive educator and approaches teaching from a student centered stance.
